The Sheet Music Project

From approximately 2001-2006, Project Gutenberg volunteers were been engaged in digitizing public domain sheet music, using a variety of techniques, to enable study and performance. For the most part, the musical pieces created were chamber music, with composers such as Brahms and Beethoven. This sub-project is no longer active, because there are other efforts that have stronger workflows for sheet music. Project Gutenberg is, mostly, focused on text.

- Completed scores ready to download and enjoy.
- The Sheet Music Project In Progress List, including scanned scores ready for transcription. No longer maintained.
- The Music HOWTO, describing how to get started. No longer maintained.

Thanks to ClassicalArchives.com, source of musical performances for many composers, in many formats. ClassicalArchives.com worked with Project Gutenberg on our sheet music project. Project Gutenberg also received a donation from an anonymous family foundation to help start the sheet music project.

Interested in other similar projects? We recommend the Mutopia Project, which has many pieces of sheet music.
